Event Name: -	Blood Donation Camp
Venue: -	Indoor, Sportorium Block
Date: -	10 th December, 2024
SDG Number, Name and NEP: -	3-Good Health and Well Being, 17-Partnerships for the goals and NEP: - 1
Organized By: -	National Service Scheme, Chitkara University, Punjab
Number of donors: -	112
Duration: -	One Day

Objectives:

- To honour Human Rights Day through an act of selfless service.
- To encourage students, faculty, and staff to engage in life-saving initiatives.
- To strengthen the culture of humanitarianism within the university.
- To forge partnerships that amplify social impact beyond institutional boundaries.

"The purpose of life is not to be happy. It is to be useful, to be honourable, to be compassionate, to have it make some difference that you have lived and lived well."

On the crisp morning of 10th December 2024, the halls of Chitkara University, Punjab, stirred with quiet, resolute energy. In observance of Human Rights Day, the spirit of service took form, not in grand declarations, nor in fleeting gestures, but in the simplest, most profound offering of all: the gift of life. Under the aegis of Veins 2 Village, the National Service Scheme, in collaboration with Rajindra Hospital, Patiala, and Chitkara Business School, orchestrated a blood donation camp; a gathering not of spectators, but of willing hands, steady hearts, and souls bound by a singular purpose.

Within those walls, beneath the hum of determination, the act of giving transcended mere biology. It was not just the movement of lifeblood from one to another; it was the silent pledge of humanity to itself. Students, faculty, and staff stood shoulder to shoulder, each one a bearer of quiet courage, each one extending a part of themselves into the unknown. Some hands trembled with the weight of their first donation, some wore the ease of familiarity, but all shared the same unspoken understanding: to serve is to truly live.

One hundred and fifty units of blood left the veins of the willing and entered the flow of existence beyond. Somewhere, an unseen life will endure a little longer, a heart will beat a little steadier, a mother will hold her child a little closer. And though the givers may never meet the receivers, an invisible thread of kindness now binds them in ways deeper than words. For service is the echo of a soul that knows its worth. And in that space where life is gifted freely, man does not simply survive, he thrives.

Outcomes:

- 112 units of blood were donated, directly impacting lives in need.
- Increased awareness about the significance of voluntary blood donation.
- Strengthened bonds among participants through shared service.

BLOOD DONATION CAMP
16th January 2025

Event Name: -	Blood Donation Camp
Venue: -	Explore Star Hall
Date: -	16 th January, 2025
SDG Number, Name and NEP: -	3-Good Health and Well Being, 17-Partnerships for the goals and NEP: - 1
Organized By: -	National Service Scheme, Chitkara University, Punjab
Number of donors: -	61
Duration: -	One Day

Objectives:

- To commemorate the value of selflessness and humanitarianism in the university community.
- To mobilize the students, faculty, and staff in meaningful service, aiding those in need.
- To inspire future generations of Chitkara University students to engage in life-saving acts of kindness.

"A single act of kindness throws out roots in all directions, and the roots spring up and make new trees."

On the 16th of January 2025, Chitkara University, Punjab, witnessed a remarkable convergence of purpose and spirit. As the crisp winter air hummed with anticipation, the National Service Scheme, in association with Rajindra Hospital, Patiala, once again stood as a beacon of selflessness. Through the Veins2Village program, the university organized a blood donation camp that transcended the ordinary, turning a simple act of giving into an extraordinary expression of unity and compassion. The University Readiness Academy, a collection of eager and committed young hearts, embodied the essence of selfless service. Students poured in with energy fueled by a collective understanding of the power within them. It was not just blood that flowed through the tubes, but a deep-seated desire to make a difference, to be a part of something larger than themselves. What began as a quiet offering became a harmonious symphony of giving, a melody that echoed beyond the boundaries of the university and reached into the lives of those who needed it most. In that sacred space, a miracle of sorts occurred, not a dramatic, visible one, but the quiet kind that ripples through the soul. Each drop donated was a seed of kindness, casting roots that would grow into something far greater than the sum of its parts. In that moment, each participant became part of a larger tree, whose branches stretched out far beyond the campus walls, touching lives and making a difference where it mattered most.

This blood donation drive was a living testament to the power of collective action, showing that through simple gestures of kindness, we create ripples that extend far into the future. The heartbeat of this initiative did not fade away, it became a part of the very fabric of those who gave and those who will live because of their generosity.

Outcomes:

- Hundreds of lives impacted through blood donated, directly aiding those in critical need.
- Strengthened sense of community and shared responsibility within Chitkara University.
- Positive, long-lasting partnerships forged between the university and healthcare organizations.
- A deepening of compassion and humanity in every participant's heart.

Objectives:

- To unite multiple departments and organizations in a collective service effort.
- To foster a culture of giving and humanitarianism within the Chitkara University community.
- To raise awareness about the significance of blood donation and its role in saving lives.
- To engage students in meaningful actions that have a lasting impact on society.

"One drop may seem small, but its ripple can stir the oceans of change."

On the 18th of February 2025, a resolute yet profound gathering took place at Chitkara University, Punjab. The National Service Scheme, through the powerful Veins2Village initiative, brought together the university's diverse community for a single, purposeful cause, a blood donation camp that was more than a mere event. It was a manifestation of the collective human spirit, where every drop shared became an emblem of compassion and unity.

The day was marked by collaboration, as the Department of Computer Science Engineering and Rajindra Hospital, Patiala joined forces to organize this event. As the day unfolded, the ripple of this effort spread, encompassing various departments, including Mechanical Engineering, Electronics and Communication Engineering, and Computer Applications. From every corner of the university, 1500 students emerged, registering to participate in an initiative far beyond themselves. This wasn't just about the act of giving; it was about connecting with something greater, a reminder of the power each individual holds to contribute to the well-being of others. The presence of Hon'ble Dr. Madhu Chitkara, Pro-Chancellor of Chitkara University, was the heartbeat of this gathering. Her words, rich with wisdom and purpose, reminded all present that giving surpasses being an act; it is a manifestation of the very best in us. With her blessing, the spark was ignited. The day unfolded with a shared sense of purpose as students, faculty, and staff stood side by side, knowing that in this act, both the giver and the receiver would be enriched in ways unseen.

By the close of the day, over 410 units of blood had been donated to each unit, a promise, a second chance, a heartbeat sustained. It was not just blood that flowed, but a river of collective hope, binding the community together, nurturing it, and making the world, in its small yet profound way, a little better.

Outcomes:

- Over 1500 students registered, showcasing widespread support and participation.
- 410 units of blood were donated, directly aiding those in need of life-saving resources.
- Stronger connections were forged between various departments, institutions, and healthcare organizations.

BLOOD DONATION CAMP

3rd April 2025

Event Name: -	Blood Donation Camp
Venue: -	Explore Star Hall
Date: -	3 rd April, 2025
SDG Number, Name and NEP: -	3- Good health and Wellbeing, 17-Partnerships for the goals, and NEP: - 1

Objectives:

1. To foster a culture of empathy and community service among students.
2. To facilitate the collection of life-saving blood units through active student participation.
3. To highlight the importance of giving as a strength beyond professional skills and training.

“We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.”

These words found quiet resonance on 3rd April 2025 at Chitkara University, Punjab, where the atmosphere brimmed with a sense of purpose. The National Service Scheme, Chitkara University School of Maritime Studies, and Neelam Hospital, Rajpura came together to host a blood donation camp, an event rooted in compassion and quiet resolve.

Students from the maritime school stepped in with crisp white uniforms, the kind that speaks of clarity, discipline, and hands ready to serve. The room carried a stillness, not of silence, but of intention. One by one, students offered their time and their blood, fifty units in all. Each pouch marked a lifeline extended, a future kept intact, a story still unfolding somewhere else.

Their training prepares them for the unpredictable sea, for navigation across vast and wild horizons. But on this day, their direction pointed inward, to empathy, to steady giving, to the kind of strength that’s calm and unshaken. They didn’t need waves beneath their feet to create impact. They stood grounded and still managed to stir something deeply human.

The act didn’t carry fanfare. No cameras flashing, no grand declarations. Just a stretch of hours shaped by generosity. A student sits, a needle pierces the skin, and with it flows more than blood; hope, trust, and the willingness to share what one has for someone unknown. There's a tenderness in that choice, a maturity that doesn't chase recognition.

By sunset, the camp wound down, but the meaning lingered. A quiet legacy had been set in motion, fifty acts of kindness, steady as anchors. The sea may call them soon, with its tides and tempests, but this day will remain etched differently. A day where courage wore no medals and giving looked simple, sincere, and deeply enough.

Outcomes:

1. Fifty units of blood were donated, each representing a vital contribution to saving lives.
2. Students experienced firsthand the impact of selfless giving, deepening their sense of social responsibility.
3. The event created a lasting impression of quiet courage and generosity, enriching campus values beyond academics.

Number of Donors: -	54
Duration: -	One Day

Objectives:

1. Organize a voluntary blood donation drive in collaboration with Rajindra Hospital, Patiala.
2. Promote a culture of selfless service and health awareness across departments.
3. Encourage students and faculty to participate in life-saving community efforts.

“Every drop of blood is a pulse of humanity.”

On 25 April 2025, under the organization of the National Service Scheme, a Blood Donation Camp was held at Chitkara University, Punjab, in association with Rajindra Hospital, Patiala. The initiative was supported by the collective efforts of the Chitkara College of Pharmacy, Chitkara School of Planning and Architecture (Interior Design), and Chitkara School of Mass Communication.

The day began with preparation. Registration desks, medical stations, and volunteer lines were arranged with precision. As morning settled into its rhythm, the space filled with steady movement, students arrived, faculty stepped forward, and support staff joined in without hesitation.

Each donor moved through the process with calm focus. The atmosphere remained organized and attentive throughout. From form filling to medical screening and the final donation, every stage was handled with care. Medical personnel from Rajindra Hospital managed procedures with professional consistency, while student volunteers ensured smooth coordination on ground.

There were no speeches, no elaborate gestures. Instead, the act of giving stood on its own, direct, composed, and dignified. Donors came with intention and left with a sense of quiet fulfillment. The event did not require excess language; the presence of people was statement enough.

In its structure and spirit, the camp reflected the values that underlie public health initiatives: voluntary action, ethical commitment, and mutual support. The contribution of each individual added to a shared effort that reached beyond campus walls.

Beyond its immediate outcome, the camp acted as a live learning space. It called on academic departments to collaborate across roles, encouraged volunteers to hold responsibility, and allowed each participant to engage with service beyond theory. It made room for a different kind of education: one shaped by action, timing, and trust.

Events like this reflect the character of Chitkara University. The institution continues to build an environment where civic responsibility is not treated as an addition to academics, but as part of its rhythm. Here, compassion is not occasional, it is practiced, organized, and sustained.

Outcomes:

1. A successful multi-departmental blood donation camp was held on campus.
2. Active participation from students, faculty, and volunteers throughout the day.
3. Fostered a spirit of compassion, responsibility, and quiet collective service
